If I could follow in Arthur Ash's footsteps and "give back" to the game of tennis, I would help the people of Lee realize how great the sport of tennis is. I would do that by spreading the word that tennis is great. Tennis is great because it's a lifelong sport because you can play it even when you are old. You get to meet new people that might not have met before and you get to exercise while playing a fun game. I would work to get more children of Lee involved in tennis. Many children of Lee play basketball, soccer, and baseball. Not many people play tennis because they don't see it as a popular sport. I would host tennis events in Lee and invite all my friends. I would make it so fun they wanted to come back. If I could spread the word in Lee, maybe kids around the world could spread the word in their small towns. Tennis would then be popular everywhere.
